

SEYMOUR DAILY REPUBLICAN

VOLUME XXXVI. NO. 165

SEYMOUR, INDIANA, FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1917.

PRICE TWO CENTS

LOCAL FRANCHISE IS SURRENDERED

Interstate Public Service Company will Operate Under an Indeterminate Permit.

SERVES NOTICE ON THE CITY

By Releasing Claim on Local Grants Company is Under Direct Jurisdiction of Commission.

Notice has been served on C. W. Burkart, city clerk, by officers of the Interstate Public Service Company, operating the gas and electric plants here, that it has formally surrendered the franchise and permits which were given by the city and hereafter will operate under an indeterminate permit as provided by law. The action that has been taken by the local company has been taken by a large number of utility companies during the last few months.

The notice served on the city follows:

"The Interstate Public Service Company, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the state of Indiana, hereby declares that it is a public utility within the meaning of an act concerning public utilities known as the Shively-Spencer Utility Commission Act, approved March 4, 1913, as amended 1915 and 1917 that said company is producing and furnishing in the city of Seymour, Indiana, electricity for light, heat and power purposes, under certain existing licenses, permits and franchises granted by the city of Seymour in the county of Jackson and state of Indiana; that said Interstate Public Service Company is desirous of surrendering and does hereby surrender each and all of said licenses, permits and franchises as aforesaid, and desires to receive by operation of law in lieu thereof indeterminate permit or permits as provided by law; that said Interstate Public Service Company desires to continue to produce and furnish electricity for light, heat and power purposes and to hold such indeterminate permit or permits upon all terms, conditions and limitations of said Shively-Spencer Utility Commission Act.

"This declaration is made by said Interstate Public Service Company under authority of and pursuant to a resolution of its Board of Directors only adopted at a meeting duly held on the 26th day of June, 1917." By releasing claim on its franchise and the rights and grants which have been given to the company by this city, it will be operated under the rules and regulations laid down by the Indiana public service commission. Utility owners declare there are both advantages and disadvantages in operating under the indeterminate permit. The Interstate Public Service Company is the first local utility to surrender its franchise and elect to operate under the indeterminate permit.

It is stated that by surrendering its franchise given by the city, the company has a more complete guarantee that the commission will not permit a competing company to be organized here. However, the standard of service and fair rates must be maintained the same as under a franchise. The present rates will remain in effect until they are changed by the commission after due notice and a hearing conducted in the usual manner.

Local people are speculating if the recent petition filed with the commission by thirty-five utility corporations, including the Interstate Company, for a thirty per cent. advance in electric rates is in any way connected with the surrender of the franchise. It is the general opinion here, however, that if the advanced rates were granted by the commission the operation of the company under a franchise would not in any way affect their enforcement when once granted by the commission.

MANY DO NOT KNOW PRECINCT NUMBER

Applicants for Registration Must Know This Before They Can File Blanks.

CITY ADDRESS IS NECESSARY

More Than Seventy-five Blanks Filed With Special Committee in Session Thursday Night.

That a surprisingly large number of voters do not know the number of the precinct in which they live was revealed at the special registration session at the city building Thursday night. Some of the applicants for registration were not certain about the ward in which they lived and a few were doubtful about the number of their residence. Answers to these questions are imperative before the blanks can be filed with the county board. More than seventy-five voters took advantage of the opportunity to file their blanks in this city and because of the success of the plan another session will be held at the council chamber Saturday night. That date was fixed as a large number of voters are in the business district on Saturday evening and can step into the city building and file their blanks without inconvenience to themselves.

At times during the evening the council chamber was well filled with voters waiting a chance to answer the questions. Several men volunteered their services to assist W. A. Carter and Henry Price, members of the county board, in filling out the

BODY IS IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF RALPH LLOYD

Young Man Was Drowned at Dixon Ford, in Jennings County, Early in January.

The body which was found Thursday near the Slate Ford, east of Crothersville, was identified this morning as that of Ralph Lloyd, of Paris Crossing, who was drowned on January 4 at the Dixon Ford, in Jennings county. The identification was made by relatives from rings on one hand and a watch found in the clothing. The body was in such condition that it could not be recognized. The body was found lodged in drift and had been carried about fifteen miles.

The discovery of the body was made by a farmer who was working near the bank of the creek. From the time it was found the people there generally believed that it was that of young Lloyd who lost his life when he tried to drive his horse through the swollen current. The buggy was found several days after the accident. Lloyd had been calling at the home of the young lady to whom he was to marry and was on the way to Vernon to secure the marriage license when he was drowned. He was a young man of excellent character and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmondson Lloyd, prominent Jennings county people.

Although it was rumored that Lloyd had been seen in Louisville since January 4, the people living in the vicinity of Paris Crossing have never doubted but that he was drowned. The body was taken to the home of his parents in Jennings county today by George Dodds, undertaker at Paris. The body was removed from the Scott county side of the creek and the inquest was held by the Scott county coroner.

HIGHER FREIGHT TARIFFS ON FILE

Increase of 15 Percent. on all Shipments Scheduled to Become Effective Monday.

PROTEST MADE BY SHIPPERS

Local Merchants and Manufacturers Await Ruling of Interstate Commerce Commission.

Local merchants, manufacturers and other shippers are much interested in a ruling expected tomorrow from the interstate commerce commission relative to a general increase of fifteen percent. on all freight shipments. Authority was recently given the railroads to establish higher rates, but the shippers of the country protested against the proposed increase, and the case was argued at a hearing which was concluded this week. The commission has announced that it will file a ruling in the case tomorrow afternoon.

Railroad agents here have already received copies of the higher tariffs but they will not be formally filed until after the ruling of the commission is announced. If the proposed advance is granted the new rates will go into effect Monday. The commission requires that the prevailing tariffs be on file in the office of the carriers so that they can be inspected by any interested shipper. The increase will mean additional revenue of thousands of dollars from Seymour shippers alone. It will also be an added burden on merchants.

FLOWER BED ARRANGED IN DESIGN OF AMERICAN FLAG

Attraction on Baltimore & Ohio Lawn Highly Complimented by Citizens and Passengers.

The patriotism of Peter Horan, general foreman, and the employees of the Baltimore & Ohio roundhouse is shown by a unique and attractive flower bed which they have arranged on the company's lawn east of the passenger station. American flags have been floated from the top of the big water tank and other places about the roundhouse, but Mr. Horan decided that Old Glory should have a place on the lawn. The flag is made of flowers and short ornamental shrubs. The flowers are just beginning to bloom and the real beauty of the design will be more apparent later in the season. The red, white and blue are arranged in the stripes and stars. The flag flower bed is 8x14 feet and will remain on the lawn until frost. The bed is slightly elevated so that it can be plainly seen from the passing coaches. The unique design has been complimented by many citizens and passengers. The flower bed and the lawn are carefully looked after by the roundhouse employees under the supervision of Mr. Horan. The property around the waiting station is reputed to be the best kept lawn of any on the Indiana division.

BULLETIN.

Oppy Taken.

By United Press.

Berlin, June 29 (Via London).—Admission that after a bitter hand to hand battle, the English occupied the foremost line of German defenses at Oppy was made by the German official statement today.

By United Press.

London, June 29.—British troops struck a sudden and tremendous blow today southwest of Oppy, capturing German positions on a front of two thousand yards and taking all objectives. Field Marshal Haig also reported additional successes at Avion.

Oppy is one of the foundation points of the entire German line. It is about six miles from Lens so that the assault there may be considered a part of the general offensive against the coal city.

The Germans evidently had transferred many troops to near Lens to meet the British attack there and Haig choose a weak point at which to make his advance on Oppy.

The Paris statement today declared that heavy blows were struck on the banks of the Meuse by the Germans, but all had failed.

ORGANIZATION OF SHIPPERS URGED

Local Commercial Club Receives Suggestion from State Public Service Commission.

FOR GREATEST EFFICIENCY

Ten Points Emphasized as Means of Securing Prompt Service and Relieving Car Shortage.

Harry M. Miller, secretary of the Seymour Commercial Club, is in receipt of a letter from the Indiana Public Service Commission suggesting the organization of local shippers with the view of getting 100 percent. efficiency out of every car that is used. The letter is sent out by Carl H. Mote, secretary of the state commission.

The letter is self-explanatory and is as follows:

"The Public Service Commission of Indiana is exerting extreme efforts to improve the railroads' freight service in this state. It is co-operating in this with the National and State Councils of Defense. The railroads, in full sympathy, are exerting every effort to meet the unusual conditions. We desire to call on the shippers of Indiana to co-operate in like spirit to get the maximum of service.

"We are certain that your people appreciate the seriousness of the transportation problem. It is possible, however, that none has led in locally organizing a movement for conservation of transportation facilities. We feel sure that you will

BUCKLAND UNABLE TO GIVE BOND AND IS HELD IN JAIL

Defendant in Bigamy Case Believes He Will Secure His Freedom in a Few Days.

Leonard Buckland, charged with bigamy, is being held at the county jail having been unable to furnish bond of $1,000. The amount was fixed in city court following the preliminary hearing late Thursday afternoon. Buckland was accompanied to Brownstown by both of his wives. Although wife No. 1 apparently cherished a bitter hatred for wife No. 2 when they first met at the city jail following his arrest here all indications point to a closer friendship.

The two girls are together almost constantly and were seen together several times this morning in the court house yard. They occupied the same room at a Brownstown hotel last night and go to the jail together to talk with Buckland. The defendant thinks he will be able to secure his liberty on bond within a few days as soon as a member of the company with which he is employed arrives in Brownstown. He informed the company of his plight just after he was arrested. Buckland is the most optimistic prisoner that has occupied a cell in the county jail for many months. He realizes that the charge against him is serious but is supremely confident that he will be freed.

PEACE CAN COME ONLY BY VICTORY

Premier Lloyd George so Declares in an Epoch Making Speech at Glasgow Today.

INDEMNITIES ARE REQUIRED

Democratization of Germany Would be Best Guarantee of a Permanent Peace, He Says.

By United Press.

Glasgow, June 29.—Peace can only come in the world when the allies have attained their aims and had their objectives guaranteed, Premier Lloyd George declared here today. He stated peace before a victory would be the greatest disaster in the history of mankind.

"Indemnities," he declared, "constitute an essential part of the mechanism of civilization. Without them we have no guarantee against the repetition of other years.

"The democratization of Germany would be the best guarantee for peace. We would negotiate with a different spirit and with less suspicion with a free government than with Prussian militarism. Peace must be guaranteed by the destruction of Prussian military power.

"Germany says the British are seeking her colonies as well as Mesopotamia and Palestine. Mesopotamia was never rightly Turkish. Mesopotamia can never be rightly restored to the Turks because of their tyranny—and Armenia, also. An international peace congress will decide the disposition of the German colonies.

"America has always been freedom's mainstay. She has never made war except for freedom. Now she is sending her soldiers to the battlefield to fight around liberty's standard."

In conclusion, the Premier declared that the government "has carefully reckoned the chances and decided the submarines will be unable to starve those at home or drive our armies from the field."

WILSON GIVES PERSONAL INFLUENCE TO SAVE BEER

President Exorced That Effort is Made to Stop Manufacture of Beer and Wine.

By United Press.

Washington, June 29.—President Wilson is throwing his influence into the senate fight to save beer and wine. Greatly exorced at the consequences of jamming through at the present time a drastic prohibition measure which would constitute, he believes, a blow against personal liberty, the President today is endeavoring to force a compromise of the senate dry amendment so that the manufacture distilled spirits alone will be stopped.

The President acted personally to modify the prohibition bill and to end debate in the senate.

He sent word to the senate that the turmoil arising from the wet and dry fight threatened to hold up passage of the bill for a month or more. This, he said, might prove disastrous. The President conferred with Democratic leaders urging a compromise immediately.

Senator Lewis, of Illinois, democratic whip, today introduced a bill in the senate designed to be a substitute for the dry amendment to the food measure. It provides for the prohibition of spirits production or any intoxicant containing more than ten per cent. alcohol.

PRESIDENT OF FEDERAL LAND BANK EXPLAINS POINTS

Says Liability of Association Members in Case of Foreclosure is Strong Feature of Law.

St. Louis, Mo., June 29—Herman W. Danforth, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, has admitted that his department is encountering considerable objections from farmers because of the co-operative features of the law which requires the organization of national farm loan associations.

"Others," said Danforth, "object to that feature of the law which requires every applicant to subscribe for stock in the National Farm Loan Association in the sum of 5 per cent of his loan and the individual responsibility to the extent of the amount of the stock owned by them at the par value thereof in addition to the amount paid in and represented by their shares."

"This individual responsibility is equal and rateable so that the full liability that is assumed by any borrower is 10 per cent of his loan. This liability is in my judgment, one of the strongest features of the law."

"When the members of the farm loan association have their first meeting to select officers and directors and the local loan committee they will have this liability in mind and will be careful to see that the best men in their association are placed in responsibility. They will also be cautious in selecting the loan committee."

"If all members of the local associations use the proper caution in making these selections there is no chance of any member being called upon to pay the additional 5 per cent liability or to forfeit his stock. Before this could happen it would be necessary for one of the members to default, which would mean a foreclosure, and the land would have to be sold at public auction for less than 50 per cent of what their own local appraisers had declared it worth."

"This feature of the law, more than any other, will stabilize farm credit and make the land bank bonds an attractive investment at low interest rates. The investor will reason it thus: 'If ten, fifteen or twenty farmers in a given territory are willing to guarantee each other's obligations to the extent of 10 per cent of their own indebtedness, and the twelve land banks guarantee the payment of all bonds, they must be gilt-edged.'"

"The Federal land banks have not been organized to make a profit, but to serve the farmers. The farm loan board has determined to fix the rate of interest to farmers at 5 per cent. The farm loan bonds to be issued and sold by this bank will draw 4 1/2 per cent, leaving only a margin of 1/2 per cent to cover the operating expenses of the bank."

"It is believed that subsequent bonds can be sold at 4 per cent, leaving a margin of 1 per cent for bank expense. This would probably leave a margin of profit. This profit, however, after overhead expenses are paid, goes back to the borrower as a dividend on his stock, reducing the interest charge to that extent."

"It is proposed to reduce the interest rate to the farmers just as fast as the public shows a disposition to purchase the bonds at a lower rate of interest."

"The exemption from all taxation and the unexcelled security underlying these bonds should make them as desirable as any government bonds. We believe the bonds will sell eventually on a 3 per cent basis."

"Another strong feature of the law is that which requires that all money loaned to farmers must be used for productive purposes."

"The system is co-operative and should be especially attractive to farmers throughout the grain belt who have for years enjoyed the advantages of co-operation in the marketing of their grain. If the farmer can market his grain to advantage through his own co-operative elevator, why should he not in the same way market his credit?"

LUTHERANS ELIMINATE

"GERMAN" FROM TITLE

Detroit Selected as Place for Next Meeting of the Lutheran Synod of Missouri.

Milwaukee, June 29.—After eliminating the word "German" from the official title delegates to the convention of Lutheran Synod of Missouri yesterday voted Detroit the next convention city. It was explained that the church has many organizations in which English is used. The new name is the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri and other states.

The Rev. R. D. Biedermann, of Springfield, Ill., was re-elected secretary, and Edward Seal, of St. Louis, Mo., treasurer. The General Board of Control was chosen as follows:

W. Hagen, of Detroit; Benjamin Bosse, of Evansville, Ind., and H. W. Horst, of Rock Island, Ill.

The Rev. F. Wenckel, of Washington, and the Rev. D. H. Steffens, of Baltimore, were delegated to watch national legislation in Washington.

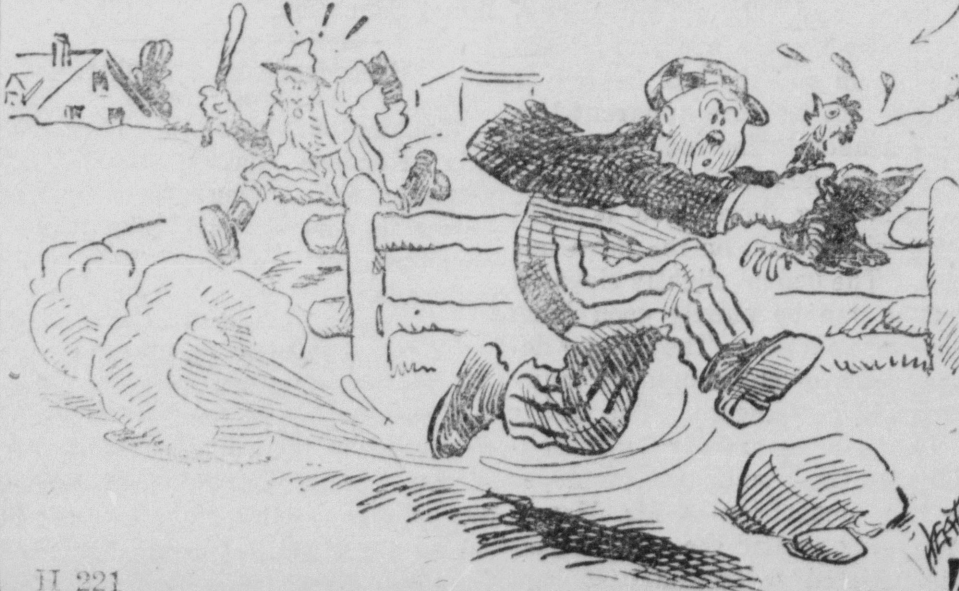

F. W. Wesner went to Indianapolis this morning to appear before the state board of pardons in behalf of Charles Howard, who was sentenced from this county for burglary. Howard's real name is Hammond. Mr. Wesner thought that under the circumstances of the case his client has a good chance for release. Mrs. Wesner accompanied her husband to Indianapolis.

CANADIAN TROOPS NEAR FRANCE'S COAL METROPOLIS

Avion, Suburb of Lens, is Already in Hands of the British Forces.

By United Press.

London, June 29.—Canadian troops yesterday participated in a brilliant assault on Avion, the strongly held suburb of Lens, storming the entire system of German first line trenches. As a result of this attack the British proceeded forward to within one mile of the center of the city of Lens.

The attack was made along a two-mile front. On the extreme left troops from Nova Scotia pushed their way up the Lens-Arras road and took the village of Leauzette, where they captured a number of prisoners. At the other end of the line, east of the railroad entering the city, enemy dugouts were bombed. Their occupants belonged to the crack Prussian guard corps, the Fifth Guard Grenadiers, who refused in most cases to come out and surrender. Canadian airplanes flew low over Avion preceding the attack.

German attacks south of the Cojeul River were repulsed by the British. The enemy's artillery bombarded positions in the neighborhood of Fontaine-les-Croisilles. A German raiding party entered British trenches east of Vermelles, but it was promptly ejected.

The Berlin statement is basis for the report of increasing activity on the part of the Russian armies. It tells of spirited bombardments occurring on several sectors of the Gallician front. No important development have been noted in Macedonia.

The official communication issued by the Paris War Office reads:

"Intermittent bombardments occurred in the region of Hurbise monument, on Teton Height, Mont Blond and Carmillet. The enemy artillery was vigorously counter-shelled by us along the whole front, and particularly on the left bank of the Meuse, on the slopes of Mont Des Roches. North of Joux a strong enemy patrol which attempted a surprise attack was repulsed."

"A German airplane was brought down by one of our machines and fell in the Bois de Beau-Marais, south of Cronne. The pilot, who was wounded, and an officer observer, un-derwounded, were taken prisoner. The Germans continued to bombard Rheims, into which 1,200 shells were fired yesterday, eight on the Cathedral."

The railroads made the plea that they are entitled to a higher freight rate on account of the increased operating expenses, especially since the eight-hour law became effective. At the time that question was settled it was stated that the railroads had agreed to the eight-hour work day principle with the understanding that they were to be privileged to make a substantial increase in their freight rates. Soon after the eight-hour law became effective the railroads were granted the fifteen percent freight increase. The higher cost of coal and materials necessary to operation was also cited as a reason to justify the increase.

HAYDEN CANNING FACTORY ASSURED

Construction of Building Has Been Started—Contracts Made For 200 Acres.

ORGANIZATION OF FARMERS

Spencer Township, Jennings County, Pledges $338 For Red Cross—Other Hayden News.

The canning factory at Hayden is assured. The farmers there have been trying for more than a year to locate a cannery at that place in order to give them a good market for tomatoes. When the Rockford factory was burned the undertaking was renewed with great energy. Two hundred acres have already been contracted for so that a big pack is certain. Work on the building has started, furnishing employment for all the available men.

A meeting of the farmers of Spencer township, Jennings county, and the community will be held at Hayden Saturday night, June 30. A permanent organization will be effected and officers will be elected. Committees will be appointed to look after certain divisions of the work to be undertaken in that vicinity. Fielding Whorler will be temporary chairman of the meeting. Every farmer is urged to attend and become a factor in the organization that promises to take a prominent place in the community. Several plans are under consideration that will mean the advancement and progress of the entire community.

Spencer township over-subscribed its quota for the Jennings county Red Cross fund by $80. The total pledged exceeded $400 while only $338 was apportioned. The subscription was taken by leaders in the Red Cross movement.

Cards to the number of 271 have been signed and 245 indicated a desire for membership. The oldest member enrolled is Horace Eastment who is ninety-six years of age. The youngest member is the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr who was twenty-four hours old when her card was signed.

The base ball game between the married men and the young men given for the Red Cross fund netted about $10. A like amount was cleared from the refreshment stand.

The crops in Spencer township are in fine condition and the rain Thursday afternoon and night was worth hundreds of dollars to the farmers.

Cold Pack Method. Article No. 2.

By United Press. After the cans are filled, they should be sterilized. A commercial outfit may be used or a home made outfit which consists of a vessel in which the cans may be completely immersed in water, a rack or false bottom to permit circulation of water and a cover to conserve the heat as much as possible.

Cans are placed on the rack, covered with warm water and allowed to sterilize the required length of time. Start counting the time after the water begins to bubble. When finished they are taken from the hot water and the tops tightened and inverted so as to test for leakage. When cold, they should be stored, protected from light, to avoid fading.

In order to overcome a probable can shortage, only such vegetables as cannot be kept otherwise, should be canned. Among these are greens, not only cultivated greens but wild greens which are greatly relished. Among the wild greens are: pepper grass, lamb's quarter, sour dock, pursley, dandelions, marsh marigold and wild mustard. These should be gathered when young and tender.

Greens are very bulky and must be blanched. This is best done in steam in order to lose as little of the mineral salts as possible. A regular steamer or ordinary vessel with false bottom may be used. Blanch for from fifteen to twenty minutes. Take out and immediately plunge into cold water. Pack in jar, filling crevice with water. Add a teaspoonful of salt to the quart and any other seasoning desired. Sterilize for one and one-half hour.

Asparagus is a spring vegetable which is not canned as much as it should be. To can, prepare for table use, cutting off all woody parts. Have stalks just long enough to be placed on end in the can. Wide mouthed cans are the best for this purpose. Place the stalks in a wire basket or piece of cheese cloth and put in boiling water for five minutes.

Take out and plunge immediately into cold water. Put two inches of water into cans and add one teaspoon of salt to each pint can.

Place new rubber and put top on loosely. Place in boiler, as the jars are filled with air in place of water they will have to be weighed down. Cover with warm water an inch above the cans. Bring water to the boiling point as soon as possible and boil for one hour. Take out at once and tighten tops. The reason for not filling the can with water is to avoid having the tender tips being water soaked. The air in the can is sterilized and if the can is air tight there will be no danger of spoiling.

The management of the Strand theater announces that beginning with the week of July 9th the house will be open on Thursday, Friday and Saturday instead of Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays as at present. Feature pictures will be shown as usual, and a high grade musical act secured for each week.

blanks. John H. Kamman and Albert H. Kasting, notaries, gave their services without charge and were kept busy during the evening.

The first session here revealed that the work can be completed with greater rapidity if the applicants will ascertain their precinct and ward numbers and street addresses before coming before the board. If the precinct number is not known the clerks are required to look up the city boundaries and while this is being done many other applicants are kept in waiting.

The clerks of the county board were pleased with the result of the session here and believe that a hundred or more blanks will be filed Saturday night. Quite a few residents living outside the city took advantage of the opportunity to register. The board has been busier the last few days than at any time since the session convened. Following the announcement that women could not vote after Thursday afternoon many blanks have been filed. Almost a hundred women in Brownstown township alone filed blanks Thursday and about fifty blanks were sent down from this city. However, the women may register at any time they desire and will not be governed by the Thornton decision.

The task of registering a foreign born voter is much more complicated than recording the answers of a native born resident. The foreign born voter is required to state the exact place and date of his naturalization or that of his father if the latter was naturalized before he reached his majority. If a voter lives outside an incorporated city or town he is required to describe his house, tell on what side of the road it is located and to give the name of his closest neighbor. These questions are answered in order that the voter might be easily identified if any dispute should arise when he presents himself at the voting precinct. However, many of the questions are useless in cities of this size and in rural communities where the chance of illegal voting is very small on account of the wide acquaintance of the precinct voting boards.

The Most Popular Wedding Present

Take notice sometime at a wedding and you will find that the most admired gifts of all come from a jewelry store. Jewelry reflects more than anything else the sentiment of a wedding.

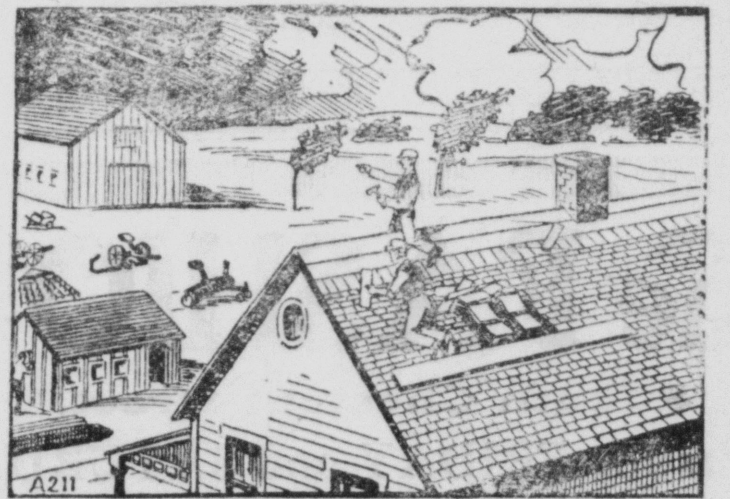

We carry in stock every sort of remembrances to win the admiration of wedding guests.

Dozens and dozens of articles of jewelry, precious stones, cut glass, fancy china, silverware—and a great many other desirable articles that we haven't space here to mention.

But remember when that gift occasion arises to let us show you.

THE THORNTON DECISION.

After several days of doubt and uncertainty as to the registration of women arising from the decision of Judge W. W. Thornton of the Marion superior court, who held that women are not entitled to vote for delegates to the Constitutional convention and the subsequent injunction restraining them from registering, it is now agreed that women should register with their respective county boards. The injunction remains effective, but Judge Thornton has announced that it will be liberally construed and that clerks will not be held in contempt of court if they permit women to register. Judge Thornton's "liberal construction" statement came after the attorney-general of Indiana gave an opinion that the registration law is not affected by the Thornton decision.

It is conceded that the best plan is for the women to register, regardless of the outcome of the appeal of the Thornton decision. The supreme court may hand down its opinion before it adjourns for the summer. But if it should withhold the opinion until after it reconvenes in the fall and should then hold that women are entitled to vote in the September election, it is apparent that they would have difficulty in qualifying for a right which they legally would have. The constitutional right of women to vote for a new constitution is an entirely different question from whether or not they are entitled to register.

The Jackson county registration board will continue to accept the registration blanks which are filed by women. That is obviously the best course to follow. It is the fairest to the women who are hoping that they have the right to vote for delegates. Doubtless the women of this county will avail themselves of the opportunity to register at the earliest possible moment. If the supreme court should hand down an opinion that is favorable to them they will then be ready to exercise their right of franchise. If the opinion is adverse to their cause nothing has been lost by registration.

SOCIAL EVENTS

REBEKAH SOCIAL.

The members of the Rebekah lodge together with a number of friends enjoyed a very pleasant social evening last night at the I. O. O. F. hall at the adjournment of the business session of the lodge. The charmingly appointed affair was in the nature of an indoor picnic. The excellent program published in the Wednesday evening edition was rendered in a most enjoyable manner. Mrs. Charles Frey was complimented very highly on the training of the children taking part in the drills. After the program was completed the doors were thrown open to the dining hall, where two long tables loaded down with everything appropriate to a picnic luncheon was attractively arranged, and the way everybody helped themselves was evidence enough to assure the committee who had worked so hard for the success of the affair that their labors had not been in vain. It was truly an evening of rare enjoyment to all who attended, and ended in a very laughable contest under the direction of Miss Mayme Goodwin.—Contributed.

EVENING PARTY.

In honor of her guest, Miss Marie Merklein, of Louisville, Ky., Miss Elsie Auenburg entertained a company of friends Thursday evening at her home on East High street. The evening's diversion was informal and was concluded with the serving of a luncheon. The guests included the Misses Merklein, Leona McCann, Margaret Thoele, Irene Heideman, Gaynell Breitfield, Hilda Steinwedel, Thelma Alberring, Luella Mascher, Wilma Acker, Esther Plump, Messrs. Edward Buhner, Lawrence Kasting, William Schroer, Clarence Steinwedel, Albert Rebber, Bertie Elm, Carl Ahlbrand, Walter Huber, Edward Hoferkamp, Leo Sierp, Arthur Wilde and Alvin Lange.

HOME GUESTS

Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Severinghaus corner Booth and Poplar streets, are entertaining as their house guests Dr. W. L. Severinghaus and A. E. Severinghaus, of New York city, Miss Carol Smith, of Delaware, and Miss Esther Severinghaus, of Chicago, all formerly of this city. The guests are enroute to their homes after an extended motor trip through the middle-western states including Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, visiting a number of university cities, and have recently visited Madison, Wisconsin, where they attended the commencement exercises of the Wisconsin university.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIAL.

The Presbyterian Brotherhood entertained for the members of the church and their friends in the church parlors last evening. The program consisted of an illustrated travelogue lecture by Miss Ewing, describing the beauties of Hawaii, and a group of songs by Miss Rachael Barbour, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Following the program light refreshments were served.

DINNER PARTY.

Mrs. Samuel L. Crowe entertained with a twelve o'clock dinner today at her home, corner Fifth street and Indianapolis avenue, having as her guests Mrs. Edna Owens and her daughter, Ruth Owens, of Indianapolis, Frank Allen of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bryan and children and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bryan and children of this city.

FAREWELL PARTY.

In honor of Theodore Carter, who left this afternoon for residence at Cleveland, Ohio, the Boy Scout Glee Club entertained with a farewell party Thursday evening at the home of Joe Andrews on North Walnut street. Music and informal games provided the diversion and concluding the evening a dainty ice course was served.

CHRISTIAN AID SOCIETY.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Christian church held their regular weekly meeting this afternoon at the church parlor. The afternoon was spent in the usual way with quilting as the diversion and was concluded with the serving of a dainty luncheon.

AMITIE CLUB.

Mrs. Theodore Brunow was hostess to the members of the Amitie Club entertaining this afternoon at her home on South street. The time was spent in pleasant informality and concluding the afternoon the service of an attractive luncheon was enjoyed.

A-Z ROOK CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Clark entertained the members of the A-Z Rook Club very pleasantly Thursday evening at their home on West Second street. Red rambler roses and ferns in baskets and wall pockets were used throughout the house, forming a color motif of red and green which was followed in all the appointments. Five tables were in play, with Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bollinger special guests of the club.

BAPTIST SEWING SOCIETY.

A pleasantly informal meeting of the sewing society of the First Baptist church was held this afternoon at the church parlor. Concluding the regular meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

ALL DAY MEETING.

An all day meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Church was held today at the church parlor. The day was spent with quilting and at noon a picnic dinner was served.

TO ATTEND SOCIAL.

The Epworth League of the German Methodist church will attend the ice cream social this evening at White Creek given for the benefit of the Red Cross Society.

Mathematics Aid to Leaders.

In addition to his attainments as a chess player, Napoleon was a skillful mathematician, a science which has always attracted great soldiers. As a young man, a writer in the London Chronicle declares, he was quite distinguished by his ready manipulation of mathematical formulae, and his keen mathematical brain was a big factor in his success as a general.

Wellington also had a similar talent, and on one occasion he told Rev. R. Gleig that he attributed much of his success to his lifelong devotion to the science of numbers. Many other famous soldiers of the last century were adepts in rapid and accurate calculation, among them Lee, Jackson and Moltke. Washington, too, was a mathematician, a subject in which he was exceptionally proficient.

The pictorial drama, Ramona, which was presented at the Majestic theater last night was witnessed by crowded houses and the audiences were loud in their praise of the production. The photography was exceptionally fine and by many is declared to be the best of any picture of the kind that has ever been shown at the local theater. The scenery in southern California is always interesting and the pictures throughout the photo play were taken where the natural beauties were most prominent. The play was produced at great expense.

Where Was the Night School?

I think I have a match here in Massachusetts for the Korean woman who did not know her husband's name. I knocked at a door; a lady came; I said, "I am making a business directory of the town, and need the name of this family." She gave the surname; I asked the given name. She replied, "Ed." I said, "That may mean Edwin, Edward or Edmund. Which should I write?" She answered, "I don't know; I haven't been married a great while." At another time and place I asked the usual questions and received answers as usual. But the surname was anything but English, and I said: "I'll have to let you spell it for me." She replied: "I don't spell it; John does."—Christian Herald.

Brightens Carpets.

A suggestion for making a carpet look like new and bringing out all the bright colors again, at a cost of 15 cents, follows: Shave one bar of white soap in a dish and dissolve with a gallon of hot water; to this add 10 cents' worth of salts of tartar. This forms a soft paste. When cold put a handful of paste on carpet and with a scrub brush scrub this well into the carpet; then with a dull knife scrape the paste from the carpet and then wring a cloth out of clear water and go over the place just cleaned. In this manner go over the surface of the entire carpet, and you will be surprised at the result.

The Satisfied Man

A Fable of Serenity That Slipped Out From Under

Once upon a time there was a Business Man who was Satisfied.

The concern was earning Enough to Support Him in the Style to Which he was Accustomed. So he decided to let it Run Along Just as it Was, while he took a Well-earned Vacation.

All he wanted the Outfit to Do was to Hold Its Own. So he Cancelled all his advertising, to Keep Bus. from Outgrowing the Shop.

Yep! He had a Great Vacation. And when he Got Back a few months later the store was Still There.

But that was About All. It was Very, Very Still.

Spiders were quarrelling over Choice Locations for Cobwebs, and the manager was Out in the Open, for Greater Ease in Dodging Creditors.

The boss told the bookkeeper to Give him the Answer, and be Quick About It. She was Almost Too Quick to suit him.

"We stopped advertising," she replied, "but the Other Fellows Didn't."

"But where's our Regular Trade?" demanded the boss.

"Over at the Other Fellows," said the bookkeeper sadly.

Moral—If it isn't Going Up it's Going Down.

Senreco
The double-service tooth paste, keeps teeth clean AND GUMS HEALTHY.

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on mouth cleanliness.

Get a tube to-day at your druggists or toilet counter—enjoy the healthy, cleanly feeling its use gives your mouth and gums. Notice how brilliantly white Senreco makes your teeth. It performs this two-fold service for you and yet costs no more than the ordinary, old-fashioned tooth paste that simply cleans the teeth and leaves a pleasant taste—25 cents for a large 2 ounce tube.

China's Need—Publicity.

If the Chinese people are awake to their opportunity, they will take a leaf from the book of Japan and establish a publicity organization at home, and, better and more useful than that, they will send to the United States a few men who can, by lecturing, speaking, writing and otherwise getting before the public, establish a Chinese propaganda. All the United States needs is to be informed about China, and who should inform them if not the Chinese? The cost would be negligible, and the results incalculable. China needs the right sort of publicity, and needs it more than any other nation in the world. If China does not take steps to put herself and hold herself before the world in this regard China need have no hope for the future. China is done, for no country will voluntarily take up the cause of China—no people. They must be made to think about China—made to! Otherwise they will never think, nor care.—The Far Eastern Review.

Greater Than Gunpowder.

The European war has proven that gasoline is greater than gunpowder. When the German army rushed through Belgium and were almost within sight of Paris thousands of motor vehicles rushed troops to the aid of the French army, turned the tide and made possible the victory of the Marne. We know that Verdun was saved by the timely use of a great fleet of motor trucks. New York's gasoline army of 318,000 cars and over 110,000 professional drivers will be an important asset as an arm of the national defense, says a New York automobile man.

Turning Hose on Your Clothes.

Have the garden hose so adjusted that it will give forth a fine spray; then use it to sprinkle the clothes while they are still on the line. They may then be rolled up and laid in the basket ready for ironing as soon as they can be taken down.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson I. July 1.

ISAIAH'S CALL TO HEROIC SERVICE. Isaiah 6

GOLDEN TEXT.—And I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then I said, Here am I; send me.—Isa. 6:8.

I am always specially glad to come to a study in Isaiah, this wonderful epitome of the whole Bible, divided into two portions like the Bible, the former having thirty-nine chapters and the latter twenty-seven, like the thirty-nine and twenty-seven books of the Old and New Testaments. The meaning of the name Isaiah is the salvation of Jehovah, and that is also the topic of the whole Bible. A prophet was a spokesman for God, and his mission is fully set forth in Hag. 1, 13, as "the Lord's messenger with the Lord's message." The king mentioned in the first verse had reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem, and it is recorded of him that he did right in the sight of the Lord. He was marvelously helped till he was strong. But when he was strong his heart was lifted up to his destruction, for he transgressed against the Lord his God and died a leper (II Chron. xxvi. 3, 4, 15, 16, 21). He was also called Azariah. Thus kings as well as all others come and go, for there is none abiding, nor here have we any continuing city (I Chron. xxix. 15; Heb. xiii. 14).

Isaiah did what we should all do, and always do, look up and see a king who never dies, and a throne that cannot be moved, of which it is written, "Thy throne, O God, is forever and ever; a scepter of righteousness is the scepter of Thy kingdom" (Ps. xlv. 6; Heb. i. 8). I like to read in Ezek. i. 26-28, of the throne and the glory of it and the man upon it, for He is the same one whom Isaiah saw, the one of whom we have been learning for the past six months (John xii. 41). There is no other way for us in this world of change and trouble than to do as Stephen did—look up steadfastly into heaven and see the glory of God and Jesus. As Ezekiel saw the cherubim in connection with the throne, so Isaiah saw the seraphim, and it may be that they are the same living ones representing some portion of the redeemed as burning ones and as held in His hand. The cry of each is virtually the same, "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts" (verse 3 and Rev. iv. 8), and nowhere else do we find the thrice holy in a sentence. But see Ps. xcix. 3, 5, 9. They speak of the whole earth being full of His glory (verse 3 and Rev. v. 13), so it is a vision of the future, as were the cherubim in the garden of Eden. Isaiah saw the temple filled with glory, and so it was at the dedication of both tabernacle and temple.

When Isaiah thus saw the glory of the Lord, the King, the Lord of Hosts, it caused him to see Himself as wholly unclean and undone (verse 5). Job and Daniel were affected in the same way (Job xlii. 5, 6; Dan. x. 7, 8), and we may be sure that if we have any good opinion of ourselves left we have not yet seen the King as we might see Him. See also Rom. vii. 18, the soul cry of one who has seen the beauty of the Lord. We are not as right with Him as we might be unless we think so much of Him that we think nothing of ourselves. There is a very helpful suggestion in the face and feet covered with verse 2. The face indicates what we are, the feet suggest our walk or what we do, but we must not think of what we are or what we do, only of what He is and He does (Gal. ii. 20; I Cor. xv. 10). The power to fly is in the two wings of commitment and trust of Ps. xxxvii. 5. The altar and taking away of iniquity and sin of verses 6, 7, suggest the one only way by which sin can be taken away, the sacrifice of Calvary, of which the brazen altar and its sacrifices were typical.

It takes but a moment for Him to take away our sins by virtue of His great sacrifice of Himself once for all. So shall it be with Israel as a nation when they shall see Him coming in His glory (Zech. iii. 9, i. c.), and then shall they be His messengers to all nations, and many nations shall be joined to the Lord in that day (Zech. ii. 10-12), whether it be a nation or a man, only there can be no service for God until sins are forgiven, but when we know this blessedness, according to Ps. xxxii. 1, 2, we should be gladly willing to tell others. After the prophet knew that he was cleansed then he heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?

Note the "I" and "us," the one Living and True God and the three persons in the Godhead, and learn from Rom. viii. 25, 31, 34, that the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are each and all for every one whom they send, and they will not fail to work and to watch over their own word, which will surely accomplish their pleasure, and the faithful messenger shall be unto God a sweet savior of Christ in them that are saved and in them that perish (II Cor. ii. 15, 16), whether hearts and ears and eyes are closed against the message or opened to hear and see and receive it. If the love of Christ constrains us we cannot but say, "Here am I; send me!" And then, whatever may be the immediate result, we shall rest in this—that He cannot fail nor be discouraged and in His time the kingdom will surely come.

Oilcloth on Shelves.

Oilcloth is more satisfactory than shelf paper for covering the pantry shelves, as it can always be kept clean. Though the outlay is larger, it is cheaper in the end, as it may be washed when soiled instead of having to be replaced.

To bead georgette crepe stamp the pattern to be beaded into a piece of heavy white writing paper, then baste this onto the cloth with little, fine stitches. The pattern can be very plainly followed, and, being on the stiff paper, it is very easy to handle.

Gait of the Fox.

The usual gait of the fox, unlike that of the dog, is, at night at least, a walk. On such occasions he goes through the fields in an alert, stealthy manner, stepping about a foot at a time and keeping his eyes and ears open.

These Funny Censors.

Rochester Post Express: Censorship may make the news look a trifle spotty, but it certainly adds to its piquancy. For instance, Gen. Pershing arrives at "a British port" and is "welcomed by the mayor of Liverpool." Lord Northcliffe arrives at "an American port" and forthwith issues a statement from New York City.

Doubtless both the Republican and Democratic candidates for president along about 1932 are with Pershing in France, or will be ere long. We elected presidents from the Civil War crop of heroes for forty years.

King Alphonso is nothing if not accommodating. He has made it known that if his people prefer a president to a king that he will take over the job of president.

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Between Operation and Death. Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Des Moines, Iowa.—"My husband says I would have been in my grave to-day had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from a serious female trouble and the doctors said I could not live one year without an operation. My husband objected to the operation and got me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon commenced to get better and am now well and able to do my own housework. I can recommend Lydia E. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from highly prized roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How National Advertising Increases Dealers' Profits on a Decreased Investment

(Copyright—Mallory, Mitchell & Faust)

It is a matter of economy for dealers to handle nationally advertised products. It is ECONOMY from the standpoint of CAPITAL INVESTED in stock.

This is based upon the principle of CONSUMER ACCEPTANCE, which is created by the advertising. Inasmuch as the advertised brands are ACCEPTABLE to every class of trade, the dealer NEED sell only advertised brands.

This means that the MINIMUM OF CAPITAL is required for a sufficient stock of goods upon which to do business. A large amount of capital is not tied up in slow moving stock which is acceptable to only a PART of his trade. FEWER BRANDS PLEASE ALL CUSTOMERS.

When unadvertised products are handled, and even pushed by the dealer, it is still NECESSARY for him to carry SOME advertised brands to meet the demands of PART of his trade.

It is clearly a matter of economy to carry a few brands as possible in each line. This condition is brought about by the dealer handling that class of products acceptable to ALL.

Not only does specialization on brands acceptable to all mean less capital invested, but it means a greater return from a given amount of capital through an increased rapidity of turn-over.

For example, a dealer who can supply the demands of his trade with two advertised brands of baked beans will TURN HIS STOCK MORE OFTEN than that dealer who must carry several brands to supply the same quality of trade.

This means that every dollar will yield a return more frequently to the first dealer than to the latter.

It means TWICE AS GREAT AN INCOME from each dollar of capital.

Dealers are beginning to see that the MARGIN OF PROFIT on a single sale is not of as great consequence as the NUMBER OF TIMES they can make SALES FROM THE SAME DOLLAR.

It is better business to make a dollar yield a 20 per cent profit four times in a year than to have it yield a 25 per cent profit twice a year.

The advertised brands are clearly the most profitable products to handle.

CHAPTER III.
Marooned.

BOPP managed to make the engine run again and started to back off from the bar when the propeller wheel struck something, and proceedings ended.

That was the absolute finish of the performance for that day. He could not turn the engine over again, even by hand, and an investigation disclosed that the shaft was hopelessly tangled in some heavy wire which the propeller had picked up out of the sand. Bopp discovered this by sticking his head under water over the side of the boat.

"You might as well come ashore," said Lucile. "We'll have to get a mechanic."

So Bopp came ashore by wading in rather chilly water up to his waist. Considerable of the bloom was rubbed from his usual natty appearance when he clambered on the dock, besmudged and dripping.

"Welcome to the Fasters' club!" I greeted him. "I would baptize thee as a brother in the Aqua Pura fraternity, but I see there is no need. We'll go up to the house and give you a nice drink of water to warm you up after your chill."

"Where's the telephone?" demanded Bopp.

"What's the matter?" asked Lucile. "I am going to telephone to town to have a boat come over to take me to breakfast."

"In the meantime," I requested, "would you mind moving over here a moment and dripping on these flowers which need water?"

Lucile took him to the telephone. I followed at a leisurely pace, and by the time I got to the house I found Bopp whirling the telephone lever exasperatedly. It was one of those country telephones where you have to grind a little business on the side of the box until central hears you swearing at the transmitter. The operator seemed more oblivious than usual, and Bopp remarked "Hello!" in every possible tone of voice from wheedling to a threat.

"I wonder," Lucile murmured vaguely, "if maybe it wasn't the telephone cable which you dug up with the propeller of the launch."

"What's that?" Bopp demanded.

"I said, it must have been the telephone cable you got mixed up in when you ran the launch aground. That's why it won't work."

He hurled the receiver into the hook. "Don't be cross," she said soothingly. "Think pleasant things. You've got to stay. Make the best of it."

"Think pleasant things! I do! I think of ham and eggs. Can you suggest something pleasanter? How far is it to the mainland?"

"Two miles."

"And I can only swim a mile and a half."

"Why don't you start anyway?" I said.

"Hush!" warned Lucile; then, turning to Bopp, who was heading for the door, "Where are you going?"

"Out in the woods to eat the leaves off the trees." He slammed the door. After he had gone a blessed calm reigned for a few minutes. All at once Lucile started.

"Suppose he should eat some poison ivy!" she exclaimed. "He's a city bred man, and I don't suppose he knows what it looks like. Don't you think you had better go and show him where it is?"

"Sure; I'll be glad to go. I'll not only show him where it is—I'll feed it to him."

"No; I'll go," she said. "You two might quarrel."

Right there I made my mistake. I let her go after him. So she spent the day with him instead of with me.

While roaming about the empty rooms I heard a whine and, looking for its source, found Tootles in the kitchen trying to reach the shelf where the dog biscuit were kept. In the excitement Lucile had forgotten to feed her. With melancholy pleasure in sparing some living creature the pangs I felt myself I got down the box of biscuit and gave the dog one.

There were twelve of the little cakes left in the box. The dog seemed very fond of them. One would not be missed. I hope I never have to go through such temptation again. I weighed a biscuit in my hand, I sniffed its fragrance, and then—I put it aside. I would stick to my promise. But the memory of that biscuit haunted me the rest of the morning. Every time I thought of it I had to cut a new hole in my belt. I went back to the shelf a hundred times and looked longingly at the box, but always tore myself away with a sigh.

Some time during the late afternoon Mrs. Green dressed and came downstairs. She said she was feeling better, but she was pale and seemed a trifle unsteady on her pins.

Clouds began to obscure the sky about sundown, and Mrs. Green fretted a good deal because Lucile was away from home. In order to ease her mind I volunteered to find the couple and take them raincoats and umbrellas. Just as I opened the door there was a deafening roar of wind, which whipped the branches of the trees in sudden fury. The sky appeared to split in the middle with a blinding light and a ripping crash of thunder. The lightning had obviously struck somewhere in the vicinity. The crash of thunder outside was echoed by a thud inside. I looked around. Mrs. Green was lying on the floor. She had fainted.

I dropped the bundle of raincoats and ran to her assistance. First I held her head on my lap, but couldn't seem to get any farther toward reviving her. Somewhere I had read directions for reviving fainting ladies. One of the first things recommended was to loosen the corset, but this seemed to be an unpardonable liberty to take with a lady I had only met a few times. Besides, I didn't know how to locate a corset and wouldn't have been able to loosen it if I had found it. It would be a godsend if some one would get out a book on "How to Revive Fainting Ladies, Although a Bachelor."

I looked up to find a strange man in the room. He was clad in overalls and carried a satchel.

"Are you married?" I demanded.

"I don't know why it's any of your business," he responded, "but I am. Further than that, I'm an Elk and belong to the union."

"If you're married tell me what to do with a lady who has fainted."

"Give her some of this."

He produced a flask from his pocket and poured a large portion of its contents down Mrs. Green's throat.

"The dame will be all right in a minute. I always carry this just on purpose for ladies when they pull a fade-away." He sampled the "lady reviver" himself reflectively and returned the flask to his pocket. "I'm the telephone repair man. What ye been doing to the wires over here? They been trying to get you from the main office all day."

I told him where the trouble lay, and he departed in the rain to patch it up.

Shortly afterward Mrs. Green opened one eye. She looked at me for a moment and then smiled.

"Ho! your head steady a minute," she requested gravely. "Wanna see who y'are."

"I'm Mr. Blainey," I explained. "Everything is all right."

"Course it's a' right. But I don't think I'll get up till the boat stops rockin'."

"You're not in a boat, Mrs. Green. This is your own home."

"It's a boat, I tell you. I guess I know when I'm seasick. Besides, at home ain't got so many pictures of purple sunsets."

"But there aren't any pictures of purple sunsets here," I protested.

"You're mistaken, my fren', there's two of 'em over there." She pointed limply in the arc of a circle which took in the entire opposite side of the room.

"I'll show you. Ho! this board steady while I step on it."

She gravely made an effort to rise, but, failing in that, fell back limply into my arms.

"It's no use. Ship rocks so I can't stan' up. Have to roll over there."

I tried to prevent her, but it was useless. She insisted on rolling on the floor. She was engaged in that pleasant pastime when her daughter and Mr. Bopp entered, dripping from the rainstorm.

I tried to pick Mrs. Green up.

With a cry of alarm Lucile rushed to her mother's side, then started back, sniffling the air.

"My Blainey," she cried in horror stricken tones, "you've been drinkin'!"

"Don' scold my lil' fren'," Mrs. Green protested, patting my arm. "He's mos' beautiful fren' I got."

A light of understanding began to dawn in Lucile's eye.

"She fainted," I explained, "and a man who was here to repair the telephone gave it to her to revive her. It was too much on an empty stomach."

"Is the telephone fixed?" demanded Bopp, springing up. "Maybe I can get a launch to come for me yet."

The look which Lucile gave him warned my heart and made up to me for the hours I had spent alone that day. He sank back into his chair.

"Will you call up Dr. Stone, Montmorency," she requested sweetly, "and ask him to come over to see mother?"

"Surely," I replied. I soon had the doctor on the wire. I told him that we wanted him to come over.

"I don't believe that it is possible," came the answer over the wire.

"Not possible?" I echoed. "Why not?"

"Haven't you seen the sea that is running? It wouldn't be safe for any kind of a boat to land at Green's island the way it is blowing now. You know the shore is very rocky there, and if you miss the entrance to the cove you'd be dashed to pieces sure."

I told that to Lucile.

"Ask him what we should do for mother ourselves," she instructed. "Tell him she has some fever and seems very weak."

I told the doctor what she had said and asked what we could do for the old lady until the sea quieted down enough so that he could come over. He told me, and I hung up the receiver.

"Well," Lucile interrogated, "what did he say?"

"He said"—I repeated it carefully—"he said: 'Tell her to give her digestive apparatus a rest. Don't eat anything for twenty-four hours, and drink plenty of water.'"

Bopp laughed derisively.

The elder lady showed signs of interest. "Thass what I want—water," she declared, "plenty of water. Blainey beautiful fren', gimme some water. Have some yourself."

I gave her a glass of water, which she drank with enviable relish.

"Bes' water I ever tasted," said Mrs. Green, attempting to put some in her eye under the mistaken impression that it was her mouth. "Blainey, be like me. Never drink anything stronger than this water an' you'll always be blithe an' gay, jus' like me."

"You are going up to bed," Lucile said reprovingly.

"Go to bed? I don't wanna go to bed. I'm gonna put on my red dress."

Mother and daughter started up the stairs. On the landing Mrs. Green turned.

"Go'by, beautiful Blainey. Most beautiful man I ever met. Go'by."

After she had been dragged around a bend of the stairway by her scandalized daughter there drifted down to the living room a grumbled fragment of indignant protest: "Well, he is beautiful. He's more beautiful than th' Methodist' minister, an' you know it."

LIBRARY NOTES.

We are placing in circulation this week, "Tales of the Labrador" by W. F. Grenfell. A volume of brief stories of the hardships, heroisms, and sacrifices of the life in the Far North, which are almost like photographs in the clear pictures and definite outlines which they present.

"Chief European Dramatists" compiled by B. Matthews. Twenty-one complete plays in English translation, from the dramatists of Greece, Rome, Spain, Italy, France and Scandinavia, beginning with Aeschylus and ending with Holberg and Ibsen.

"Victorian Anthology" comp. by Stedman. A collection of Victorian poetry.

We have the following very readable fiction:

Phoebe Deane by Lutz.

Bab-A Sub-Deb, by M. R. Rinehart. The Sub-Deb, an intensely alive romantic, adventurous girl-woman. The American girl just before her social debut. Mrs. Rinehart's most humorously fascinating book; has been compared to Tarkington's "Seventeen."

"Come out of the Kitchen," Miller. A modern romance with a refreshing background of green and gracious countryside.

"Heritage of Peril"—Marchmont. "Texan Star," by by Altsheiler.

Texan ser. 1. One of the popular books for boys. Deals with the earlier events in the struggle of Texas for liberty.

To the Juvenile collection has been added the "Heart of Oak Books," comp. by Norton. This set includes Masterpieces of Literature for children from the first to the eighth grades.

Mrs. P. B. Smith returned to her home at Anderson this morning after a few days visit in this city.

City Boy Making Good.

The Department of Labor authorizes the following statement:

"The city boy is making good on the farm. This was the report today from various parts of the country to the United States Boys' Working Reserve. Reports received during the week from a large number of States, while not complete, show that more than 20,000 boys already have gone into the country to serve their country by helping on farms. To join the reserve a boy must be over 16 and prove himself physically fit."

"From New York City alone, according to word from Arthur F. Payne, acting State director of the Boys' Reserve, nearly 2,000 boys have been sent out, without a single complaint from the farmers in regard to these boys."

"Our great difficulty," says Mr. Payne, "is in supplying the farmers with the number of boys they need." Similar reports are being received from Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Jersey, and other States.

"F. W. Holden, of Baltimore, who has been appointed State director for Maryland, started his work today. He stated that already a number of inquiries have been made by farmers as to how many boys they can secure."

"Between 600 and 800 boys from all sections of Virginia have been organized to go to the eastern shore to help harvest the potato crops in the encouraging report from Charles L. Weaver, Virginia State director of the Boys' Reserve."

Ice Is More Than Frozen Water

THE ice that you buy for your comfort, satisfaction and protection in the summer-time is more than a mere block of frozen water. You demand more than ice—and you get more.

Whether you actually buy ice every day, you demand the convenience of being ABLE to buy it—of having it at your door every day, subject to your pleasure. Therefore

ICE IS More than a Product—It is A SERVICE

Had you ever thought of it in that way? The ice manufacturer must first manufacture the ice, which is an expensive process. Then he must actually send it to your door BEFORE he knows whether you will buy it or not.

The average family spends an average of from 7 to 10 cents daily for ice—some a little more—some a little less. Considering the extraordinary usefulness of ice, as well as the service rendered, does every 7 cents that you spend in other ways get you as much as your ice-pennies?

Telephone just once to one of the dealers named below, and ice will be at your door daily thereafter—to take or reject at your pleasure!

WAR DEPARTMENT CHANGES FIRST PLANS FOR GUARD

State Troops Will be Sent to Southern Cantonnement Camps Soon After August 5.

By United Press.
Washington, June 29—Shifting its original plans, the war department announced today that instead of holding national guard troops in their home quarters in the north after they are called out they will be sent directly to southern camps.

Calls are arranged for July 15, July 25 and August 5, but it may be necessary to make the general call on August 5.

Package Foods Are More Sanitary

(Copyright—Mallory, Mitchell & Faust)

Sanitary food products are put up in packages by the manufacturer.

Only by buying in the package can the consumer be assured that the product is sanitary. Bulk goods offer too many opportunities for contamination by dirty hands, dust, mice and other vermin.

As a consequence, today is witnessing the passing of the butter tub, the lard tub, the dried fruit bin, the cracker barrel and the tea and coffee bin. Today we buy all these and many other products formerly sold in bulk, neatly done up in attractive and sanitary packages, fully protected against any chance of contamination until they are opened by the housewife in her own kitchen.

Advertising is largely responsible for the development of the package idea. When a manufacturer made a good product, he wanted to tell people about it so they would buy his product in preference to some other competing brand.

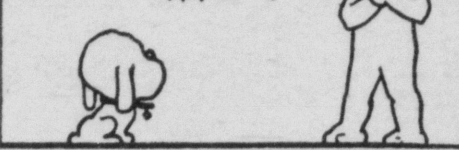

This required that he identify his product in some specific way so the consumer would know it was his. This led to the marketing of the product in a package or container bearing a distinctive label.

When you buy STANDARD ADVERTISED package foods, you buy sanitary foods.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

I love the little bugs and things
That sing all night with grating wings.
Like them with nothing much to say
I'll keep on singing anyway.
